

Cub Camping Promotion 2017

Get Cubs and their parents excited about camp!

First make contact with the pack and see how many scouts are on the pack. That will allow you to bring enough materials.

Make sure to bring along with you the following items:

- A brochure with all of the Cub Scout Camping opportunities
- Frequently Asked Questions about camping
- Campership information
- How to register a Pack online

Focus on why Cub Scout Camp is a needed part of the program. Tell them that summer cub camping is an integral part of cub scouts. Scouting does not end in May but goes the entire year. Tell them that camp enhances all of the programming that has happened during the school year. Tell them your personal stories about Cub Camp, what's new, what's great. Tell the parents about the many opportunities whether it's Cub Scout Resident Camp or Day Camp, scouts will have a memorable experience and it will help their scout stay in scouting.

Talk about Day Camp and the theme this year of Bugs.

Day Camps can last from 2-5 days during the days only. Each day camp offers something different and the prices vary depending on duration.

Guide them over to the website for the most up to date information including dates, locations and price.

Talk about Resident Camp. Themes are camps specific, D-bar-A is Mythology, Munhacker is Time Travel Safari, Rota-Kiwan is Western and Gerber is Books.

Activities may include BBs, archery, arts and crafts, sports, wrist rockets, nature, outdoor skills, aquatics, games, STEAM and horseback riding. There are unique activities based on each location.

Each camp has staff that is Nationally trained and certified. Staff deliver program and parents supervise their cubs and encouraged to participate in each activity with their son or den/pack.

Resident camps offer tents or cabins to sleep in with cots and mattresses and provide all of the meals.

Tell the benefits of summer camp:

- Develops youth mentally, physically, & emotionally.
- Builds great memories for Scouts and their families.
- Pack can't duplicate experience elsewhere.
- Scouts will work on advancement opportunities only available at camp.

Ask if there are any questions.

Follow up to make sure every Scout goes to camp.

Thank the Pack for letting you come and visit them.

Have a great Summer!
